Now the Knives Will Come Out

The UKIP election victory, although widely predicted, has really rattled the establishment parties. MEPs from both the ruling coalition parties have lost well-paid cushy jobs, and dozens of MPs fear the same fate at the next General election if UKIP is allowed to progress. The gloves are now off, the establishment will do all it can to discredit UKIP policies and personnel. One rather naïve journalist said in a national newspaper, "UKIP have faced a smear campaign of the type never seen before in British politics". Obviously he has never been an activist in any of the British nationalist parties! Police surveillance, police harassment, jobs denied because of political beliefs, "entryism" by agent provocateurs and "splitters," all tactics used by the establishment to maintain their grip on power. Can UKIP survive the pressure once the "knives come out"? We shall see!

A Church out of touch

Is it any wonder that Church of England attendances are in recession when its leadership abandons the Christian philosophy of tolerance, and instead of addressing the aggressive recruiting tactics of Islamist in Britain, they prefer to persecute Christian clergy who are members of British nationalist organisations?

Perhaps they need reminding that Our Lord died on the cross for all men, including those belonging to the BNP and NF.

EDL Where are you?

For many months, the English Defence League and the Infidels used to email League Sentinel with details of past or planned activities. Now this has stopped. We know the EDL haven't gone away, in fact a young family member was most impressed at chancing on an EDL "action" in Peterborough recently. We have always encouraged our younger members to attend EDL actions, believing a visible presence on the streets is invaluable in showing our non-Muslim citizens that there is active opposition to the planned Islamisation of Briton. So please, EDL/Infidels get back in touch.

Britain Faces Islamist Terror Threat

With up to six hundred British Muslims fighting in Syria and Iraq, the British government have at last woken up to the threat to Britain when these battle-hardened radicalised extremists return to their homes in Britain.

The threat, graphically illustrated on a video featuring a British Jihadists currently fighting in Syria, who states, "If and when I come back to Britain it will be when this Khilafah, this Islamic state comes to conquer Britain and I come to raise the black flag of Islam over Downing Street, over Buckingham Palace, over Tower Bridge and over Big Ben".

British Jihadists in Iraq with their Black Flag

Hundreds more young British Muslims are in Iraq, fighting with ICIS terrorists, coldly butchering captured POW's and non-Muslims. Incidents of the crucifixions of Christian civilians have been witnessed being committed by these barbarians.

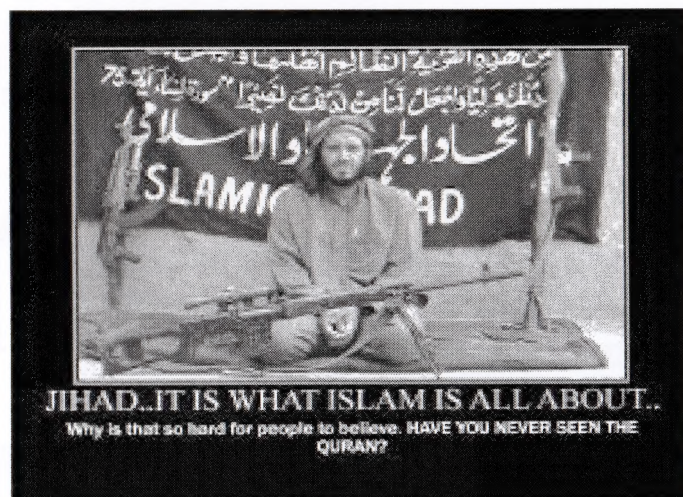

Even Prime Minister Cameron acknowledges the threat, telling a recent press conference, "Jihadists returning to Britain after fighting in Syria and Iraq are the most serious threat to Britain's security there is today".

So what should we do?

Firstly we must accept that these people have declared war against Britain, and as British citizens they are traitors! All those identified in Syria and Iraq must have their passports cancelled to prevent them flying back via Turkey. Any that are caught sneaking back into Britain must be arrested and charged with treason!

In Britain, there have been a couple of cases where concerned parents have informed police that members of their family are fighting abroad, and that is most welcome, but in the main, the British Muslim community have been quietly complacent. This has been acknowledged by Britain's top counter-terrorist police officer, Assistant Commissioner, Cressida Dick, who said there were many cases where "warning signs" about extremists were not brought to the attention of the authorities. Another senior police officer commented that extremists were being radicalised in Britain, "in their own communities".

Jihad means War!

If we are at war with Muslim extremists, and if elements of their community are complacent then, they must be regarded as accomplices or even "fifth columnists". In time of war, the rules of war apply. The well tested, "Defence Regulation 18b" must be resurrected. Complacent Muslim sympathisers must be interned if they are British, or deported if they are not. Britain's safety and security must come before "Human Rights"!

Britain must be tough, and clearly demonstrate our willingness to fight back. Concealing one's face on the streets via the Burka must be banned on security grounds! Mosques that have been used by extremist preachers must be closed down and demolished. Under "wartime regulations" the death penalty for terrorism must be re-introduced. Show the enemy we mean business!

While we accept that it is only a minority of British Muslims that actively support the extremists, complacency from the majority is not acceptable. British Muslims must become the "eyes and ears" of our security services. In this war, you are with us, or against us. The choice is yours!

Church of England Considers Ban on Nationalist Clergy

The General Synod of the Church of England will be voting later this summer on a proposal from Bishops, to ban Clergy from being members or supporters of the British National Party or National Front.

Several Bishops claim that the policies and objectives of the nationalist parties are incompatible with the Christian teaching on racial equality.

General Synod

If the proposal is accepted by the Synod, clergy who join or support either the BNP or NF, will face dismissal. Some political observers have noted that the ban, if approved, may turn churches into political establishments which then could be legitimate targets for protests and picketing. Others are wondering if in future nationalists will be denied the right to a Christian wedding or funeral in the future.

Reds Fail to Stop *March for England

Once again, violent attacks by anti-Fascists failed to prevent families taking part in the annual, "March for England" on Brighton seafront. The march, held to celebrate St George's Day, is a non-political event open to all. A large police presence prevented the anti-Fascists disrupting the march, but the Reds took their vengeance attacking police and shoppers at various points in Brighton city centre. Twenty-seven arrests were made.

March for England: Brighton 2014

Predictably, local politicians requested the police either move the march route or ban it altogether, but police chiefs said they were "satisfied" with the policing operation and banning the event is out of the question.

Fast Food Giants

Go Halal

Pizza Express, who operate over 400 outlets in Britain have admitted that all of the chicken used in their Pizzas is Halal. Perhaps fearing a reaction from non-Muslim customers, Pizza Express makes no mention of their use of Halal meat on their menu.

The fast food giant, Subway, is to introduce Halal meat into 185 of its stores. Bacon and ham ingredients will be replaced with turkey-ham and turkey-rashers prepared under the supervision of Muslim officials. A Subway spokesman told a recent press conference that the use of Halal meat would be clearly signposted in the effected stores.

The British Veterinary Association and the RSPCA condemn the Halal method of religious slaughter as causing unnecessary suffering to animals, but Subway claim it has to balance animal welfare concerns, "with the views of religious communities."

NF Hold Anti-Grooming Demo in Newcastle

NF Gather in Newcastle

Local NF activists were joined by other nationalists to hold an anti-grooming demo in Newcastle city centre. Grooming has reached a new high in Newcastle, and seventy suspected child abusers have been arrested. Of these, eleven have been charged with sexually abusing white schoolgirls. All of those charged so far, are middle-aged Muslim men. The demonstration was well received by local shoppers, many of whom stopped to listen to speeches by NF officials, Simon Biggs and Richard Edmonds. Billy Charlton from the North-East Infidels also spoke.

Sham marriages, in which one of the partners seeks to come or to stay in Britain, have increased eightfold since 2006, a recent report has revealed.

Britain is Immigrants Favourite Destination in Europe

Official figures recently released, reveal in 2011, when citizens of Poland and seven other Eastern European countries won the right to live and work in Britain and other major E U countries, 566,000 came to Britain, compared to 489,000 to Germany, 457,000 to Spain and just 267,000 to France.

These are in addition to the estimated 1 million plus, who arrived here in 2004, after the then Labour Prime Minister, Tony Blair open the immigration floodgates.

Labour MP for the area, David Blunkett, urged police to get tough with troublemakers before the dispute turn into full scale rioting. Police had previously imposed a 10 pm curfew on street gatherings, but this expired in February. In the most recent clashes, youths were seen brandishing knives, and one man suffered a broken arm. An estimated 4000 Roma have settled in Sheffield many of whom are inter-related and live with three families in one terraced house.

2000 Roma Arrested in London in First Three Months of "Open Borders"

London's Metropolitan Police have revealed that in the first three months after immigration restrictions were lifted for Romanians and Bulgarians, they arrested 2000 Romanians and 220 Bulgarians in the 13 weeks between January and March. Charges ranged from Murder, robbery, shoplifting and sex offences.

In the same period, the number of Romanian immigrants sleeping rough in the most prestigious parts of London has trebled. This has sparked a spate of aggressive begging, prostitution and pick-pocketing.

The official report also revealed that Britain granted citizenship to 177,600 immigrants in 2011, more than any other E U country.

Migrant Violence Shocks Sheffield

Violence has broken out between Slovakian Roma gypsies and local residents in the Page Hall district of Sheffield. ## UK Elections 2014

British Nationalists Fail in UK Elections

As was widely predicted, British nationalists lost voter support in both local council elections and the European Parliamentary elections.

Overall in England, the Labour Party increased its number of councillors by 324 to 2,121. The Conservatives lost 236, leaving it with 1,364 councillors. The Lib-Dems lost 310, leaving them with 427 councillors. The Green Party gained 18 seats bringing their number up to a total of 38. UKIP, in percentage terms, made the most gains, raising their number of councillors from just 2, to 163. The BNP lost 1 of their 2 council seats, and the National Front failed to gain any seats. There were a few highlights for the NF. In Hillingdon, South London, their candidate polled over 4000 votes, (4.82%), beating Lib-Dems, Labour and Green Party candidates, and in Thurrock Tilbury Riverside, the NF candidate polled 4.52% beating the Lib-Dems candidate.

In Pendle, Lancs, the BNP candidate, Brian Parker, won the seat for the BNP for the third time in a row, giving Marsden ward a BNP councillor for a total of 12 years. George Galloway's Respect Party lost both of their councillors, leaving them with none. Also, worth noting was the defeat of the Lib-Dem councillor, Dwayne Brooks, the friend of Steven Lawrence in South London.

European Elections

The European elections, adopt a Proportional Representation (PR) system which in the past has proved beneficial for nationalist candidates, did not prevent BNP leader, Nick Griffin from losing his European parliamentary seat, as did fellow nationalist, Andrew Brons of the British Democrats. Britain now has no nationalist representation in Brussels.

The BNP stood a full slate of candidates (70) in all of the regions of Britain, excluding Northern Ireland.

The English Democrats had a full slate of candidates

(60) in all of the English regions, and Britain First had full slates (10) in two regions.

The scale of the collapse of the nationalist vote was unprecedented; the BNP polled a total of 179,694 votes (1.09%) down by 4.95% in the last election. The English Democrats polled 126,000 (0.77%) down by 1.03%, and Britain First polled 20,272 votes (0.12%).

In contrast, the pseudo nationalists, UKIP, polled over 4 million votes (26%) an increase of 10.61% from the last election.

UKIP undoubtedly gained the most from this election, increasing their representation in Europe from 13 seats to 24 seats. Cynics are claiming that UKIP was merely a safety valve party, covertly encouraged by the establishment. Certainly there is evidence to support this. Apart from a few newspapers picking up on naïve UKIP candidates making unguarded statements, most of the publicity the party received was positive.

There was no attempt to impose the "no platform" tactic that genuine nationalist parties had to face, and no "starving them of the oxygen of publicity". In fact the opposite, UKIP officials appeared in three televised debates with establishment parties, an opportunity denied to genuine nationalists. Even when a London-based UKIP candidate had his home slightly damaged, allegedly by "anti-Fascists", it received massive sympathetic news coverage. But what next for UKIP, now they have become a credible threat to the establishment parties?

With UKIP as the "safety-valve" the immediate future for genuine nationalist parties looks grim. The "floating" patriotic voter has moved their support to UKIP, and dedicated nationalists will be feeling disillusioned at their poor results.

Party leaders must hold inquests into every result and involve local activists in the process. Start rebuilding party unity, dissidents must be engaged and full and frank discussions must be held to address complaints, even if this means holding leadership contests.

It is a time for leaders to lead.

Party unity before individualism. We cannot rely on UKIP to save our race and nation, it is up to us. This is not an obligation, it is our sacred duty.

Nationalist Parties Triumph in Europe

Apart from Britain, traditional nationalist parties in Europe made massive gains in the European elections.

France: The French National Front (FN) grabbed most of the headlines after finishing first in the French election, polling over 4 million votes (24.95%) and 24 seats in the European parliament. The FN leader, Marine Le Pen had promised voters "it is time for us to take back control of France from Brussels".

Denmark: The patriotic, Danish People's Party, also finished first in their election, polling 27% of the vote and raising their seats to 4, almost a third of the 13 seats allocated to Denmark.

Austria: In Austria, the Freedom Party (FPÖ) finished third in the election, with 20% of the vote, an increase of over 8% against the last election. This gave them 4 of the 18 seats allocated to Austria, an increase of 2 seats.

Flanders: In Flanders the big winners were the populist New Flemish Alliance (NVA) who finished first after winning 16% of the vote. This gave them 4 seats in the European parliament. The more traditional nationalists from Vlaams Belang (Flemish First), managed to retain 1 of their 2 seats, despite continued interference and harassment by the Belgian government.

Greece: Despite government attempts to criminalise the party, and the arrests of several leading members, Golden Dawn still managed to finish 3rd in the poll, with their 9.5% of the vote giving them 3 of the 21 Greek seats in the European parliament.

Netherlands: The Dutch Freedom Party, run by the charismatic, Geert Wilders, (pictured right) finished third in the Dutch elections, polling almost 14%. This was enough to win them 4 of the 26 Dutch seats in Brussels.

Hungary: In Hungary, our old friends from Jobbik finished 2nd in their country's elections polling 15% of the vote and gaining 3 of the country's 21 seats

Italy: In Italy the patriotic vote was split between the populist, Forza Italia, who finished 3rd, polling 17% and claiming 13 seats, and the hard-line nationalists from the Lega Nord (Northern League) who finished 4th, polling 6%, giving them 5 seats.

Germany: Despite several attempts by the German government to outlaw the party, the NPD (National Democratic Party) still managed to increase its share of the vote from 1.3% in the Federal elections to 3.4% in the Euros. This was enough to finish 6th, and win 1 seat in Brussels. The NDP will be represented by former leader Udo Voigts.

Udo Voigts

Finland: The nationalist, Finns Party, came 3rd in the election, polling 13%. This was an increase of 3% against the last elections, and won the party an extra seat, bringing its total to 2.

European Election Results Continued

The European Parliament is comprised of 751 MEPs from 28 member states. Seats are allocated according to population. Within the parliament most MEPs join one of the political groups or voting blocks of which currently there are seven. At the start of the campaign, Marine Le Pen, leader of the French National Front declared that she hoped to form a new voting block from nationalist MEPs after the elections. This would mean getting support from 25 members from seven different member states.

Marine Le Pen

She told a press conference, "if we can get a block of 150 nationalist MEPs we will be able to control the parliament and run things how we want them run". Unfortunately, she had hoped that MEPs from UKIP would join the new group but UKIP leader, Nigel Farage, is intent on forming his own group, comprised of populists, rather than traditional nationalist parties.

This has impacted on Mme Le Pen, as UKIP has already signed up support from Italian, Swedish, Lithuanian, Latvian and Czech parties.

Prior to the election, Geert Wilders of the Dutch Freedom party had aligned his support with Mme Le Pen, but following alleged anti-Semitic comments from the FN's former leader, Jean Marie Le Pen, Wilders, a fierce pro-Zionist, decided to form his own group. He has attracted some support, including the Polish New Right party (KNP). This somewhat unorthodox party campaigned on abolishing taxes and ending the rights to vote for women!

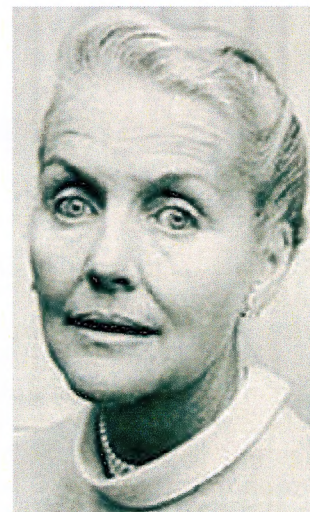

Support for a traditional nationalist group has been given to Marine Le Pen from Finland, Flanders, Austria and Hungary. This would give the new group a potential 34 seat voting block. We understand that talks are continuing with Greek, Danish and Italian nationalists from Lega Nord and Forza Italia.

UK Fails to Veto EU Plans to “bug” Our Cars

Britain has failed to protect its motorists from planned EU spying, by refusing to veto the move. The plan, directed by the European commission, is for all new cars sold in Europe to be fitted with a “tracker” device that will enable the State to locate a vehicles whereabouts 24 hours a day.

From October 2015, all new cars will have to have a “black-box” device fitted at the factory. Motorists will be unable to switch it off, and it will be checked as part of the MOT procedure.

EU officials claim that the device is an aid to “health and safety”. They claim that it will only activate if the vehicle is involved in a collision and the airbag deployed. An automatic signal will then alert emergency services to the vehicles location.

But, auto-technicians claim that the device can be used to track journeys and speed, 24 hours a day! A friendly MEP told League Sentinel, “Our government could have easily vetoed the plan but are attracted by the increased level of surveillance it will give the State over its citizens.”

Bishop Williamson Banned from Visiting Australia

Catholic Bishop, Richard Williamson, has had his visa to visit Australia cancelled following complaints by Australian Jews to the Immigration Minister Scott Morison. London-based Bishop Williamson was one of four priests ordained by Archbishop Marcel Lefebvre in 1988 who follow the traditional teachings of the Church, including the holding of the Tridentine Mass, instead of the watered-down modern version of Catholicism. Bishop Williamson upset Jewish groups worldwide when he questioned the accuracy of the authorised version of the Holocaust.

Such dissent is not tolerated by some Jews who prefer to punish dissidents, rather than debate the issue.

Mr van Eyck told the pre-trial hearing that his bookshop specialised in books by, and about dictators and totalitarian regimes, and included works by Mao-T’sung and the Russian dictator, Josef Stalin.

France to Move Against Roma Gypsies?

Roma Gypsies in France

Following a complaint by the French Prime Minister, Manuel Valls, that "Romanian and Bulgarian gypsies cannot integrate and should be deported", Police in Paris are demanding the right to evict Roma families from their "night-time squats" in the middle of the city. The Roma are being blamed for a crime wave in the city, with aggressive begging, muggings and burglary being committed by organised gangs. Young Roma women, often with babies and children, regularly harass tourists visiting the city's landmarks.

For this latest attempt, the government claims that all informants and agents have been removed from within the party, but when challenged, they admitted that there could not be a 100% guarantee that this has happened.

NPD legal representatives maintain that much of the government's "evidence" has been manufactured by state agents, and have asked for access to all informants files.

Germany

Government Attempt to Ban NPD

The German government have launched a second attempt to have the patriotic, National Democratic Party (NPD) outlawed by the country's Constitutional Court. It accuses the NPD of "aiming to form a purely Germanic community and to destroy Germany's multi-racial, multi-cultural, liberal society". The government's first attempt to ban the party failed in 2003, when it was revealed that state intelligence had so many agents embedded within the party, including the leadership that many of the accusations of illegality against the party had been, sanctioned or committed by state agents!

Flanders

Flemish nationalists are promising "mass action" against the appointment of, Elio Di Rupo as the new Prime Minister of Belgium. Di Rupo, who is openly gay, does not even speak Flemish, the language of the majority of the country. The country is split into 6.5 million Dutch-speaking Flemish people, and 4.5 million French-speaking Walloons.

The country has not had a Prime Minister or working Cabinet since the national elections in June 2010. King Albert of Belgium appointed a caretaker government after parties failed to agree on a new structure.

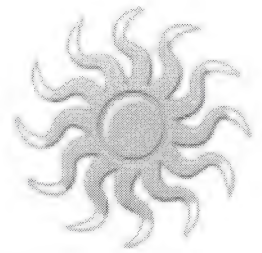

Di Rupo's political background is that of a life-long socialist, who became the leader of the French-speaking, Walloon Socialist Party. He has assembled a cabinet of 13 Ministers and 6 State Secretaries, cobbled together from the three main parties. Flemish nationalists advocate the establishment of a Flemish Republic, completely separate from Belgium.

Summer Solstice

A sacred day in the Pagan calendar of our North European ancestors

The Summer Solstice, or midsummer's day, is the longest day of the year, when the time between sunrise and sunset is at its maximum. After the Summer Solstice daylight time gradually reduces as winter creeps in. To our North European ancestor, this was a time of celebration, for long daylight hours meant longer time in the fields and forests, hunting and growing crops for winter. Depending on the shift in the calendar, the Summer Solstice occurs between June 20th and June 22nd. This year it is June 21st.

While it was still dark, our ancestors made their way to sacred sites, and gathered inside a ring of stones, ritually placed on directions from the wise men of the tribe. Once set, the stones would remain often for centuries. Many of these stone circles remain today, the best preserved being Stonehenge in Wiltshire.

As the first rays of the sun appeared through the sacred circle, a great cheer would rise from the crowd, and the wise ones or priests, would light a sacred bonfire.

The Sun appears above the sacred circle

The day would be spent feasting and dancing, with young men testing their courage in jumping through the flames from the bonfire and walking across hot ashes. The bonfire was a vital part of the celebration as it was believed to keep evil spirits away. For this was a really spiritual event, when "magic" herbs such as Calendula and St John's Wort, both with powerful healing powers, could be safely gathered by the wise women of the tribe, for the making of potions to heal the sick. Prayers were said, asking the Gods for a successful harvest and a mild winter. Good health for the family and good luck and prosperity for the tribe were also asked.

As with many Pagan festivals, the Christian church adopted the Summer Solstice as "St John's Day", the alleged birthday of Saint John the Baptist. But this was not widely accepted, and priests often complained that on midsummer's day "those who claim to be Christians prefer to spend the day celebrating at the bonfire rather than going to church".

Today, the solstice is still widely celebrated in Northern Europe. In Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, midsummer's day is a public holiday. In Sweden and Finland a public holiday is on a fixed date, June 24th. People flock to the countryside, light bonfires, hold feasts and perform traditional dances until sunset.

Maidens perform traditional dances

For Britons it is more awkward to celebrate the solstice. As it is not a public holiday, most people have to spend their day at work. But it is still possible to rise early to watch the arrival of the midsummer sun. In the evening, a candle can substitute for the sacred bonfire, and a walk outside to watch the setting sun is not beyond most folk. Remember to offer prayers for your family and kith and kin, and give thanks to the Gods for their gifts. In this multi-cultural society it is vital that you do not abandon your individual spiritual heritage.

Blessed Be!

Enoch Powell was an enigma to many nationalists. He was a life long Tory. He was an ardent European and Minister of Health in the 1960's It was in that capacity that he had filched thousands of nurses and other medical staff from third world countries where, of course, they were desperately needed. Yes! He was a real "dyed in the wool" Tory. If it was cheaper to import foreigners rather than train his own kinfolk - that was the option he would and did take.

But the real fact that perplexes most nationalists is one that applies equally to Labour supporters. It is the way in which their political loyalty transcends any other consideration. Conservatives remain conservative and Labour party supporter remain solid for their party quite irrespective of whatever policy their leaders pursue.

So even left wingers remain Labour even with or without Tony Blair. And Enoch Powell remained a Conservative even after being sacked from the Tory Government.

Of course, Enoch was right in all he said about immigration. After his famous "Rivers of Blood" speech he became overnight the most popular politician in Britain.

Then came his fateful decision which led to his terrible legacy for which history will condemn him forever. Powell could have formed his own political party. He could have joined one of the many existing nationalist parties. British nationalist, European Nationalist, folk Nationalist - whatever. Instead he remained a Conservative. In this Enoch Powell betrayed all his supporters and his real friends. His cause was lost and Britain was ruined.

However, many people change their views from being pro immigration to anti immigration. To change one's mind is a virtue. We must welcome such converts.

This little book is fascinating. It contains quotes from the Bible - both Old Testament and New Testament, The Koran and interestingly, Adolf Hitler's Mein Kampf.

A FUND RAISING ADJUNCT OF THE LEAGUE OF ST GEORGE

Probably the best book ever written about the British Union of Fascists and Union Movement

Details and pictures of the Uniforms, Flags and Insignia of the BUF, plus some information on its organisational structure. It also features Special Award badges and Banners of Union Movement.

The book has 132 pages, a hard cover and many of the pictures have never been published before.

An absolute must for serious students of British political history
